

General Certificate in Occupational Safety & Health

NEBOSH (National Examination Board in Occupational Safety and Health)

The National Examination Board in Occupational Safety and Health (NEBOSH) is the leading UK examination body in safety and health.

Who is the course for?

Anyone who wants a nationally-recognised qualification. It is the minimum qualification that an employer would expect someone with specific responsibilities for health and safety within an organisation to hold.

Course Content

It is split into several key topics and delivered in a logical order to help you study and apply what you learn in the workplace after the first few sessions:

- legislation
- human factors
- risk assessments
- occupational health
- safe operations
- fire
- first aid

By gaining the NEBOSH Certificate you will be also eligible for affiliation to the Institution of Occupational Safety & Health (IOSH) -- which will look good on your CV. For more information go to www.nebosh.org.uk or call NEBOSH on 0116 263 4700.

Are there any course requirements?

A pre-course interview will be required. Please complete and return an enrolment form and we will invite you to attend the pre-course interview and advice session. You will also need to have good written and verbal communication skills.

Duration: 15 days

Delivery: The General Certificate in Occupational Safety & Health is also available as an 'open' course, with start dates throughout the year. Call us for the latest information.
